Are you interested in corporate responsibility issues and reporting?

If you are, there's a great opportunity for job rotation with a challenging task: to contribute to creating and preparing a fully integrated annual and corporate responsibility report. Financial and non-financial issues integrated in one online report. An excellent opportunity to learn more about corporate responsibility and Outokumpu.

You will work independently but in close cooperation with the reporting team members. Your responsibilities cover among other things overall project management (schedule, meetings) and also routines such as text input to the system, contacts with writers and assurance providers. Reporting language is English. Good organizing skills, experience in publishing systems and working on the net are required. In addition, you are determined and motivated to get the work done well and on time.

Your location will be in the Group head office in Espoo in the communications and investor relations team from September 2010 till end February 2011, to get the report published.

Outokumpu has been awarded twice as Finland's best corporate responsibility reporter - in 2008 and 2009. Our report for 2009 was the first online report - annual report and corporate responsibility report together. Our aim is now to have both financial and non-financial issues fully integrated in the 2010 online report. With you we will do it.
