

Information for CR module students regarding study plan changes for the academic year 2023-2024

The current study plans have been revised for a new two-year period. The number of changes varies between the subjects. You can either follow the current study plan in your module (for 2020-2023) or transit to the new one (for 2023-2025).

Which study plan to follow depends on how much you have already completed in the module and on your personal preferences.

If you want to complete studies next year you need to update to the 2023-2025 version either of the whole module, OR single courses, to see the teaching 2023-2024 and later register for it. Step-by-step instructions with pictures can be found furthest down in this document.

- New courses added to the module in the 2023-2025 version are 21045 Sustainability Reporting (Accounting), 22094 Virtual Collaboration across Cultures (Management and Organisation), and 23161 Responsible Marketing (Marketing). If you want to complete any of these courses, you need to update the module to the new version, and follow instructions to get possible completed courses included in the study plan if they are not showing automatically.
- If you are not interested in the new courses, it is most likely easiest for you to continue with the current study plan, and only update the specific courses in it. Updates only concern courses which you have not completed in this case.
 - Select courses you want to complete to your study plan, click on the course code to update to the 2023-2025 version of the course.
 - If the course code in your study plan ends with -E, begin by clicking the course code and switching to the code without an E via the substitution tab. Then update to the 2023-2025 version of the course.
- Updated course descriptions and teaching for the academic year 2023-2024 can only be found in the 2023-2025 versions of the courses, some descriptions have also moved, please see more detailed instructions further down.

Explanations regarding the above list:

“Not included in the module anymore, can't be completed anymore.” – If you have completed this course, you can still have it in your study plan, both in the 2020-2023, and 2023-2025. You can't, however, complete it anymore if you haven't done so up to 31.7.2023, as the course either isn't offered for CR students anymore, or not offered at all.

“Changes to code , substitution” – The course is still given and offered to you, but if your module is in the 2020-2023 version, you first need to select the new code via substitution for the course, and then update the substituted course to the 2023-2025 version before registering for teaching. If you have changed the module to 2023-2025 and have already completed the course earlier, you can enter your course credit to the plan via the substitution from the new course code.

“No changes” – The course continues on the same code. If your module is in the 2020-2023 version, you only need to select the 2023-2025 version for the course before registering. If your module is in the 2023-2025 version, no extra steps needed before registering.

Step-by-step instructions for different situations

These instructions only show you how to complete the changes. You need to decide yourself which way around you want to update your study plan, ie. update the module, or the single courses inside it to 2023-2025.

Update the module to 2023-2025

Add completed courses to the 2023-2025 version of the module

Previously completed course, same course code currently

Previously completed course with code ending in -E

Add a 2023-2025 version of a course with the same course code as currently

Add a 2023-2025 version of a course with a changed code \(substitution\)

Find course descriptions in the 2023-2025 courses

Update the module to 2023-2025

1. In your study plan, click on the code for the module.

2. In the pop-up window, click on the version drop-down menu and select 2023-2025.

Study Module in Corporate Responsibility (min 25 cr)

Study module version

3. A blue banner will show up, click on “Use this version” in the banner.

You are viewing a version of the study module that is not included in your study your plan. Use this version.

4. You can then decide whether you want to create a new study plan as a copy and change the version, or change the version directly in your study plan.

Option A “Copy plan and change degree programme/study module”

You are viewing a version of the study module that is not included in your study your plan. Use this version.

You are switching the version of the study module/degree programme from Study Module in Corporate Responsibility and 2020-2023 to Study Module in Corporate Responsibility and 2023-2025.

If you switch to a different version of the study module in this plan, all the choices you have made within the module will be deleted and you will need to make them again for the new version. If you do not want to lose the choices you have made, you can copy the study plan and switch to a different version of the study module in the new plan, in which case the old study plan will remain unchanged.

You now have the new version of the module as a copy of your study plan, and can look back at the old version and courses in it by clicking on the name of the study plan.

NB! Before you start registering to courses, select the copy of the study plan as your primary study plan via the menu in the upper right corner.

- Rename study plan
- Delete plan
- Print study plan
- Select as the primary plan
- Copy as a new study plan
- Switch learning opportunities
- Request to have prior learning included in your degree
- Request a custom course credit

Option B “Change degree programme/study module”

You are viewing a version of the study module that is not included in your study your plan. Use this version.

You are switching the version of the study module/degree programme from Study Module in Corporate Responsibility and 2020-2023 to Study Module in Corporate Responsibility and 2023-2025.

If you switch to a different version of the study module in this plan, all the choices you have made within the module will be deleted and you will need to make them again for the new version. If you do not want to lose the choices you have made, you can copy the study plan and switch to a different version of the study module in the new plan, in which case the old study plan will remain unchanged.

You have now updated your primary study plan to the new version of the module.

5. Add completed courses to the study plan. Follow the steps explained below for different courses.

Back to the top of the instructions

Add completed courses to the 2023-2025 version of the module

Previously completed course, same course code currently

Click on the name of the subject, for example Commercial Law.

The course will be found in the list to the right, select it to the study plan.

Back to the top of the instructions

Previously completed course with code ending in -E

Click on the name of the subject, for example Commercial Law.

Select the course code without -E

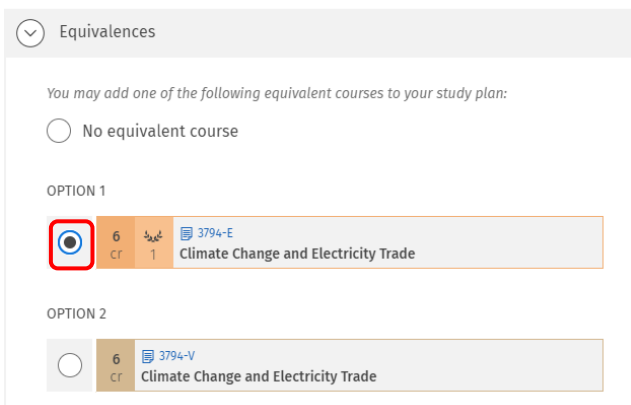

Click on the blue course code, either in the study plan or in the list to the right, after selecting the course.

In the pop-up window, go to the "Substitutions" tab, and select the course you have completed as an equivalence. You can then close the pop-up window.

Substitutions

The course will show up grey with two arrows indicating it's an equivalence to the current course in the study plan.

Back to the top of the instructions

Previously completed course, no longer offered to CR students

Click on the name of the subject, for example Accounting.

Select the course, found under "Content from older study plans".

If the courses you previously completed have the same course code as before ("No changes" in the table above), they should show up automatically in the study plan.
