

APPENDIX 1: LIST OF PUBLICATIONS

This appendix introduces research that is linked to themes of sustainability and corporate responsibility published by Hanken faculty 2014-2015 and 2015-2016. There has been a clear increase in publications where questions related to sustainability and corporate responsibility have been addressed. Some issues that have been at the core of this research include gender issues, governance issues, humanitarian logistics and open-access issues.

The refereed journal articles presented in this section were derived from the Hanken Research Information System (HARIS). The abstracts of articles were scanned for key words, such as 'sustainability', 'responsibility', 'governance', 'open access', 'gender', 'learning', 'corruption', 'fraud', 'NGO', 'non-governmental', 'society' and 'social' in order to get a comprehensive view of the type of research that touches on these topics at Hanken. The inclusion of topical articles is thus broad rather than exclusive in order to capture the different meanings different subjects and faculty attach to sustainability, corporate responsibility and ethics.
